Dear Mother

This is just a note to tell you I shall probably be home very soon after you receive this. The Hector of the Blue Funnel Line leaves Port Said soon after 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon (the 8th.) I shall have to catch the 11 o'clock train in the morning, Rex is coming to fetch me from here & will see me & my luggage safely on the train, & Cook's man will meet me at Port Said & see me on board.

You will be able to follow the ship's progress in the paper. she calls at Marseilles. & I suppose lands her passengers at Tilbury.

My face is quite well now D^r Brown let me leave the ointment <off> to-day & seems very satisfied with the way it has cleared up. I have some of the ointment left, also the number of the prescription, I shall always keep a supply with me out here so if I am unlucky enough to get infected again I can check it right away. I should always recognize it again now I have had one experience

Love to you both
Your affectionate daughter
Myrtle.
