had only just finished lunch we had to partake of it to avoid hurting his feelings.

Last Sunday we went to tea with the Doctor & his wife in Baliana it is one of those state calls we have to pay once during the season. An enormous meal was provided for us. Cheese bread, cakes of all sorts, cream, preserves, biscuits & fruit. Fortunately liquid refreshments were limited to tea. I forgot to include chocolates, nougat, sugar almonds & Turkish delight, & we were expected to sample some of everything. We cut out dinner that evening we were simply full up & very uncomfortable.

I am still at work on my second painting. the carving in the little chapels is even more detailed than in the larger ones. I do not expect to finish more than three this season.

Nannie has been making crystallized orange skins & mandarine skins. They are very nice. She does so enjoy making various preserves. We have night scented stock in the garden again. not quite such a big bush as last year, but it smells wonderfully.

There have been quite a number of boat loads of Cooks^{sic} tourists this year. mostly Americans. I suppose they are taking advantage of the exchange some of them are funny sights. There was a man yesterday with dirty white serge pluss fours that bagged down to his ankles & a skin tight sweater in

Two shades of very bright blue
 Some time ago I saw a lady bookie in canary yellow trousers, I think she must have brought her "Lido"
 outfit with her to liven up poor dull Egypt.

There does not seem to be any more news to tell you.

Amice joins me in love
 to you both also to Pat.
