Dear Father.

The L.H.J. arrived yesterday with the drawing of the garage, I was very excited when I discovered it. I suppose Mr Anderson's apprentice drew it, it is very good, I will keep it carefully & bring it back in my luggage. I also found Mr Ryders' card, I recognised it at once.

I am sending you another little piece of Coptic weaving that I picked up in the desert. It is evidently a fragment of a garment with a pattern, the dyes must have been very good to have lasted so long, & it is interesting to see how the design was woven in. The best way to preserve <sup>the bit with the pattern</sup> it, would be to damp it so that it will lie flat & then place it between two pieces of glass & gum paper round the edges. If it is left unprotected in a damp climate it will probably fall to pieces.

We are nearly at the end of Ramadan, on Monday we visit all our friends in the village to wish them a Happy Feast. They are all making great preparations for it. Abdullah is quite off his head with excitement, he brought us the water jug instead of the coffee pot at breakfast & got such a fit of giggles at his mistake that he had to go outside to recover.

Our cat has been on the razzle dazle & appeared at supper tonight with a very scratched nose & a dirty face. we wonder if it was his lady love or a rival who did the damage.

The night scented stock likes the desert air, there is a regular forest of it, the blooms are much larger than I have seen in England & it is as high again. & smells gloriously. Nannie is so pleased with it.

Lots of love to you both
