

Tuscania.
Oct 26th 1935

Dear Mother.

We are due to reach Port Said to-morrow evening. nothing very exciting has happened on board since I wrote, except that a little yorkshire^{sic} terrier tried to attack the Great Dane, of course the big dog did'nt^{sic} take the least notice & the small terrier was carried away to the otherside^{sic} of the deck simply hysterical with rage.

I enquired for my mail as soon as we got into ~~yo/~~Mar[>]seilles & got your letter, I am glad to hear you have settled with a maid & she sounds very suitable & is evidently anxious to remain in the neighbourhood as she has so many local interests

Amice & I went for a short walk ashore, but it is very dull & uninteresting near the docks & we were not staying long enough to make a long expedition & we neither of us particularly wanted to go into the town to look at the shops.

345⁴

Tuscania.
Oct 26th 1935

Dear Mother.

We are due to reach Port Said to-morrow evening. nothing very exciting has happened on board since I wrote, except that a little yorkshire Terrier tried to attack the Great Dane, of course the big dog didn't take the least notice & the small Terrier was carried away to the otherside of the deck simply hysterical with rage.

I enquired for my mail as soon as we got into ~~yo/~~Mar[>]seilles & got your letter, I am glad to hear you have settled with a maid & she sounds very suitable & is evidently anxious to remain in the neighbourhood as she has so many local interests

Amice & I went for a short walk ashore, but it is very dull & uninteresting near the docks & we were not staying long enough to make a long expedition & we neither of us particularly wanted to go into the town to look at the shops.

345²

the last two days we have run into nice warm weather. it is lovely up on deck, but we find the cabin very hot & stuffy, we have no porthole & have to keep the fan going, we shall both be glad when we reach our destination although the voyage has been very pleasant. I quite expect we shall have to spend the night in Port Said.

We have a very merry party at our table in the dining saloon & such a nice steward, one evening we all played "Up Jenkins" at desert & the poor steward was over-come with confusion when we suggested he should be Captain. I expect dinner to-night will be great fun as it will be our last on board. we shall probably have a meal before we leave the ship to-morrow, but our minds will be much too full of passports, customs etc & all those who are going on to Bombay will be anxious to go ashore to shop at the big store on the quay that displays all sorts of things to attract travellers, & keeps open day & night when there are boats in. so the meal will be a hasty one.

the last two days we have run into nice warm weather. it is lovely up on deck, but we find the cabin very hot & stuffy, we have no porthole & have to keep the fan going, we shall both be glad when we reach our destination although the voyage has been very pleasant. I quite expect we shall have to spend the night in Port Said.

We have a very merry party at our table in the dining saloon & such a nice steward, one evening we all played "Up Jenkins" at desert & the poor steward was over-come with confusion when we suggested he should be Captain. I expect dinner to-night will be great fun as it will be our last on board. we shall probably have a meal before we leave the ship to-morrow, but our minds will be much too full of passports, customs etc & all those who are going on to Bombay will be anxious to go ashore to shop at the big store on the quay that displays all sorts of things to attract travellers, & keeps open day & night when there are boats in. so the meal will be a hasty one.

345³

Amice's cold & bad throat are quite cured now.
I warded the infection off with vapex & if I sneezed
or felt snivelley (as I did once or twice) I took a dose of cinnamon, I think I was lucky to escape.

I seem to have written quite a lot about
nothing at all & really cannot think of any more.

Amice joins me in lots of love to you both.

Your affectionate daughter
Myrtle -

Amice's cold & bad throat are quite cured now.
I warded the infection off with vapex & if I sneezed
or felt snivelley^{sic} (as I did once or twice) I took a dose of cinnamon, I think I was lucky to escape.

I seem to have written quite a lot about
nothing at all & really cannot think of any more.

Amice joins me in lots of love to you both.
Your affectionate daughter
Myrtle.