Dear Mother.

Yesterday we were at Malta. we did not stay long enough for passengers to go ashore, but we were right inside the Harbour & could get a good view of Valetta it is a white stone town. all flat roofs & very beautiful seen from the sea with the sun shining on it. Lots of Maltese boys came aboard with oranges & all sorts of lace goods. I bought 3 oranges. They were fresh picked with the leaves on the stalk & so sweet & juicy. we left by 9 o'clock & I spent a lazy morning on deck reading. two aeroplanes accompanied us until Malta was out of sight. they flew round & round the ship waving to us. it was great fun. The afternoon was cold & wet. the changes in temperature are terrific. Uncle Jim has caught a bad cold. I have insisted on him seeing the ships doctor he didn't want to go for only a cold. but as he feels sneezy & generally runny I think he ought to have something to check it in time. so he is going at 9.30 this morning.

I hear we can not reach Port Said until

I hear we can not reach Port Said until early Saturday morning. This is a very awkward time for us. as it lands us in Cairo after banks & Cooks are closed & the next day is Sunday when European offices are closed. so I shall try to get to Cooks office in Port Said on the way to the station to get some more Egyptian money to carry on with. There will be lots of shops open Saturday evening & Sunday in Cairo so once I get a supply of funds we shall be allright isn't it funny I got landed in Cairo on a Sunday last year. Uncle J has £6 in Egyptian & I have £4.

 so we shouldnt be stranded in any case.
 I have got to go to the purser's office with my passport this morning. I am also due at the barbers shop for a hair cut.

Have just heard we are to be landed at Port Said at ~~12~~¹² o'clock tonight. we shall probably have to go to the Marine Hotel, as I don't think there is a train before 8 o'clock in the morning. our delay in starting has put us exactly 12 hours late. & we lost the time we had made up at Malta. we reached there at 2 in the morning but had to wait outside the harbour for daylight before we were allowed to enter. Since leaving Malta there has been a strong NE wind & it has been bitterly cold. as cold as off the English coast. I don't wonder they have had a flu epidemic in these parts.

Uncle Jimmie's cold is a little better. The doctor gave him some medicine which has eased the cough, but his nose is very troublesome. my cold has'nt entirely gone, I still need a lot of hankies. I had a washing day yesterday & dried them in my cabin so I shall not have to repack dirty ones.

I shall be glad when we reach our destination now,
 there is not much enjoyment on board in this wind
 all the sheltered spots are crowded out.

Just finished a very amusing book "Jonah & Co" by Dornford Yates. it is about a party of 6 people touring France & Spain in two small cars. "Ping" & "Pong" respectively, their adventures with officials are well ~~and~~ worth reading.
 I think you would enjoy it.

There does not seem much news this time will tell you our further adventures when I reach Cairo.
 Uncle Jim joins me in love to you both

Your affectionate daughter
 Myrtle.
