

Arabah el Madfuna.
Jan 22nd 1936.

Arabah el Madfuna.
Jan 22nd 1936.
366

Dear Mother.

We are both very grieved at the news of the King's death, we only knew of his illness a day before. I imagine London must be in a state of gloom, in fact all England, as he was so beloved by his people.

Amice & I had a jolly outing yesterday, we drove to Girga directly after breakfast & went shopping we had a gorgeous time, Amice bought pots & pans of copper for THE HOUSE. also brocade & satin to cover chairs for the drawing room. skins to cover dining room furniture & a length of satin for a frock. I purchased another piece of that nice strong cotton for a coat & skirt

Dear Mother.

We are both very grieved at the news of the King's death, we only knew of his illness a day before. I imagine London must be in a state of gloom, in fact all England, as he was so beloved by his people.

Amice & I had a jolly outing yesterday. we drove to Girga directly after breakfast & went shopping we had a gorgeous time, Amice bought pots & pans of copper for THE HOUSE. As/<l>so brocade & satin to cover chairs for the drawing room. skins to cover dining room furniture^{sic} & a length of satin for a frock.

I purchased^{sic} another piece of that nice strong cotton for a coat & skirt

2
366

To wear at home, the one I made before is for use here, & is so successful. I also fell a victim to a length of satin in lovely gay stripes such as omdah's wear. mine is not so expensive as Amice's, having a cotton back but the effect is just as gorgeous. I shall try to make both up while I am here & use them so as to avoid heavy customs when I return to England.

Amice's purchases came to so much that she had to go to Barclays Bank & cash a cheque, fortunately I had taken enough money for my own extravagances. We left Joey beside the bank & our purchases in the charge to wear at home, the one I made before is for use here, & is so successful. I also fell a victim to a length of satin in lovely gay stripes such as omdah's wear. mine is not so expensive as Amice's, having a cotton back but the effect is just as gorgeous. I shall try to make both up while I am here & use them so as to avoid heavy customs when I return to England.

Amice's purchases^{sic} came to so much that she had to go to Barclays Bank & cash a cheque, fortunately I had taken enough money for my own extravagances. We left Joey beside the bank & our purchases in the charge of the bank manager. Then we went to the river & crossed it on one of the big barges. There was a good wind & they hoisted the great sail & we soon scudded across. We had to walk the plank to disembark, but there were many hands outstretched to assist us. We had with us Sardic & one of our Soudanis & we purposed having a picnic lunch in the desert cliffs on the further side. We walked across a wide stretch of land which proved to be an island, as we had to take another barge before we reached the further side then came another walk & we found the cliffs much further off of the bank manager. then we went to the river & crossed it on one of the big barges. there was a good wind & they hoisted the great sail & we soon scudded across. we had to walk the plank to disembark, but there were many hands outstretched to assist us. we had with us Sardic & one of our Soudanis & we purposed having a picnic lunch in the desert cliffs on the further side. we walked across a wide stretch of land which proved to be an island, as we had to take another barge before we reached the further side then came another walk & we found the cliffs much further off

3

366

4
366

than they appeared from the Girga shore. However we went on, as it was pleasant walking on the nice firm sand. we passed two villages & a strip of cultivation & then at last got to the cliffs. we scrambled up until we found a nice little nook with a bit of shade; then we had lunch. bully beef, tomatoes, oranges & mandarins & biscuits.
 the men eat their lunch a little way away. & finished up our tin of bully beef as we only eat a very small portion, we heard ecstatic munchings & guessed the Soudani was getting his teeth into it. we had very little time to explore the cliffs before ~~the~~^{we} had to

than they appeared from the Girga
 shore. however we went on, as it was
 pleasant walking on the nice firm sand. we passed two w/<v>illages & a strip of cultivation & then at
 last got to the cliffs – we scrambled
 up until we found a nice little
 nook with a bit of shade; then we
 had lunch – bully beef, tomatoes,
 oranges & mandarins & biscuits.
 then men eat^{sic} their lunch a little
 way away. & finished up our tin
 of bully beef as we only eat a
 very small portion, we heard estatic^{sic} munchings & guessed the Soudani was getting his teeth
 into it. we had very little time to explore the cliffs before the/<we> had to 5

366

return so as to cross the river before sun set. when we got back to Girga we found the bank manager had got a nice tea ready for us which we very much enjoyed. Then we packed all the purchases in Joey & Soudie & the Soudani sat on top of them & we returned to camp arriving about 7:30 & got a good scolding from Nannie as we were late for supper & she had looked for us earlier, after supper we had a good gloat over our various purchases & decided they were even nicer than when we first saw them.
I send you a little cutting of my satin,
I have received three more Humorists.
Thanks very much. Have you received

return so as to cross the river before
sun set. when we got back to Girga
we found the bank manager had
got a nice tea ready for us which
we very much enjoyed. Then we
packed all the purchases in Joey & Soudie & the Soudani sat on top
of them & we returned to camp
arriving about 7:30 & got a good
scolding from Nannie as we were
late for supper & she had looked
for us earlier, After supper we
had a good gloat over our various purchases^{sic} & decided they were even nicer than when we first saw them.
I send you a little cutting of my satin,
I have received three more Humorists.
thanks very much. Have you received

6
366

a letter from me containing one of Amice's poems about Bill & Ben the Two strong men.?

Amice thanks you very much for your letter she is so glad the legend pleased you so much. she is still busy sending them off to her many friends -

Lots of love from us both
to you & Father.

Your affectionate
daughter, Myrtle.

a letter from me containing one of Amice's poem's^{sic} about "Bill & Ben the two strong men."?

Amice thanks you very much for your
letter she is so glad the legend
pleased you so much. she is still
busy sending them off to her many friends -

Lots of love from us both
to you & Father.

Your affectionate
daughter, Myrtle.