Dear Mother.

I am sailing tomorrow on the Bibby boat Shropshire which reaches London May 12th.

I have been rushing round Cairo the last two days winding up the affairs. paying bills. talking to bank managers etc

I think I told you all about my long camel ride to the Eastern Desert in my last letter. the day following I could hardly move at first. but when it got cool towards evening, I took Joey as near the village as I could & went to visit Ahmed Ibrahim & take one or two snapshots & say good-bye to various friends. I also made a polite call on the Omdah.

The next day after lunch I went for another camel ride to the orange garden I told you about last year. The omdah. Faiz Abu State came to see me as soon as he heard I had arrived. he is the very nice looking one with charming manners. he had rugs spread for me to sit on & offered me lovely mint tea & we had quite a long conversation, I was able to talk a little classical Arabic to him to his great delight & my own astonishment, I rode home through miles of his corn fields & arrived at our house after dark having

Had a most enjoyable expedition for my last day.
I forgot to tell you that the pomegranates were in full flower masses of scarlet blooms. Omdah Faiz insisted on sending me home laden with the flowers in spite of my protests, he also gave me about a dozen little lemons that were a great treat for us, for Nannie & I had lemonade for supper that night. Who'd it.

Just going to pack up my things

I start very early tomorrow morning.

I will send another letter from Mansilla.

Love from Myrtle to you both.
