

Arabah.
April 27th [1934]

Arabah. 288

April 27th

Dear Mother.

No special news this time,
only great upheavals & repackings.
I am glad you followed my adventures
on the map, & found my description
of my visit to Sheikh Sarbit so amusing.
Tell Pat that I think I have related
all the items of interest, in fact far more than I have told Amice.
Amice is very funny about the school-
-master, she feels he regards her as a wash out & a backslider, & is very off hand about him, so hav'nt mentioned the details of my visit, as she so obviously isn't interested. I think she very much regrets giving up the lessons as she did, but says she would never have the patience to work at it like I do

Dear Mother.

No special news this time,
only great upheavals^{sic} & repackings.
I am glad you followed my adventures
on the map, & found my description
of my visit to Sheikh Sarbit so amusing.
Tell Pat that I think I have related
all the items of interest, in fact far
more than I have told Amice,

Amice is very funny about the school-
-master, she feels he regards her as a wash out & a backslider, & is very
off hand about him, so hav'nt^{sic} mentioned
the details of my visit, as she so obviously is'nt^{sic} interested. I think she very much regrets giving up the lessons as she did, but says she would never have
the patience to work at it like I do

2

I expect my next letter will be
 from Cairo to tell you about my visit to Boug el Arab with Professor Olive.
 (He is the Professor who has the bird
 sanctuary at Blakeney Harbour.)
 Lots of love to you both & to Pat.
 Your affectionate daughter
 Myrtle.

So glad you had a nice day with Annie.

I expect my next letter will be
 from Cairo to tell you about my visit to Boug el Arab with Professor Oliver.
 (He is the Professor who has the bird
 sanctuary at Blakeney Harbour.)

Lots of love to you both & to Pat.
 Your affectionate daughter
 Myrtle.

So glad you had a nice day with Annie.