Dear Mother.

To-day was a red letter day for me. I had a letter from you, one from Eric, the fountain pen, the brooch for Amice & the Persian Book. It was quite exciting having so much at once. I hav'nt had time to try the pen yet, I shall probably use it for the next letter. The Persian book looks very interesting. I hope you will go to see the Exhibition. Amice is so pleased with the brooch, she has wanted an owl ever since she saw mine, she sends you many thanks for getting it for her.

We now have Mrs Davis staying with us, she came with Amice from Luxor last night, she is painting one of the scenes in Sety's Temple for a book of Egyptian painting I expect she will be with us about 3 weeks to a month. We are so glad to have her, she is such a dear, & we may be able to pick up lots of useful hints for our own colour work. Her Tempera painting is the finest of its type I have ever seen.

Mr Bennett from Amarna paid us a short visit just before Amice went to Luxor. He was a very pleasant young man. He is very sad that their season is over & he has got to go back to England. He is a philologist & has been studying with Dr Gardiner.

Our next visitor will be Miss Chubb. She comes on the 22nd.

Nothing very exciting happened while Amice was away. The time here seems to go so quickly. It will be Ramadan in four days time.

We are looking forward to receiving the wedges. It was good of Father to make so many for us.

What a busy shopping day you must have had. I am glad you have got a new jumper suit, it sounds very nice & warm.

I saw Ahmud's sheep the other day, his little boy was taking them to the fields & I stopped to look at them, old Ahmud called to them & they came up to him & nuzzled him, it was pretty to see them, there is a new black lamb.

Sardic has had a wonderful costume made for the feast after Ramadan, it is called a ~~guif~~ guftān, it is like a galabia only it opens down the front & it has deep bell sleeves, it is made in stiff cotton backed satin, with blue & white stripes, the edges are bound with braid, it is like an omdah's dress - he will fancy himself when he has got that on.

Ever so many thanks for the pen & the book,

Lots of love to you both
