Arabah
April 13th

Dear Mother.

We are expecting D^r Junker the day after tomorrow to come & collate for us, so it seems as if we are very near the end of the season now. will you stop sending the Observers, & address my letters to Thos Cook & Son. Cairo.

I went into Baliana on Wednesday to see the local Tailor. he is going to make me a dust coat of a piece of handwoven materiel I bought in Mout. It is a cotton & silk mixture in pale sandy colour. it will be rather amusing to see what he turns out. I have left him my old dust coat as a pattern.

Elfie was very anxious to see an orange garden before leaving Egypt, so Thursday evening I took her to visit my nice Omdah Faiz Abu State. we went in Joey, & left him in the village while we went through the garden. The pommegranites were in full bloom a glorious blaze of red. the orange & lemon bloom was over, but we

I went into Baliana on Wednesday to see the local tailor. he is going to make me a dust coat of a piece of handwoven materiel^{sic} I bought in Mout. it is a cotton & silk mixture in pale sandy colour. it will be rather amusing to see what he turns out. I have left him my old dust coat as a pattern.

Elfie was very anxious to see an orange garden before leaving Egypt, so Thursday evening I took her to visit my nice Omdah Faiz Abu State. we went in Joey, & left him in the village while we went through the garden. The pommegranites^{sic} were in full bloom a glorious blaze of red, the orange & lemon bloom was over, but we saw the tiny lemons forming on the trees.

 After visiting the garden we went into the old assembly room & drank mint tea. Elfie was very thrilled with it all & thought the Omdah the most courtly gentleman she had ever met. I had quite a busy time acting as intepundor.

We shall soon be in the throes of packing up.

I am glad my long letter reached you safely & that you enjoyed all my adventures.

Lots of love to you & Father also to Pat

Your affectionate daughter Myrtle.
