Dear Mother.

I have just had your letter with the just two estimates for the garage, I think is absolutely prohibitive. it's the price of a small house. I think we ought to manage with something less elaborate.

Do you get both my letters on the same day? I get two of yours together now Wednesday instead of ^{singly} Tuesdays & Fridays, if you get my two weekly letters by the same post I might as well enclose them in one envelope, the postage has gone up to a piastre & a half for England & two piastres to other foreign countries.

We had a small patient this morning Zuniyah's small son had spilt hot soup over himself & had three great blisters on his little leg, we had to open them & dress them with tannic acid which was a painful affair for a tiny boy, but he was very good & afterwards said "Thank you. may Allah bless you"

We had a visit from the Inspector of Antiquities for this district, he is a Copt, he was spending the night in Arabah at the Rest House so we invited him to supper, he speaks English very well.

We are going to learn to write Arabic, we have asked the local school master to come for an hour Saturday evenings to give us lessons. I don't know how we shall get on, as he knows no English, but I expect it will be very amusing, we have our first lesson tomorrow so I will be able to tell you all about it in my next letter.

The other day Ahmed Ibrahim came with a lovely fox skin, he had caught the little beast in a trap, we have rubbed salt & alum on the skin & hung it up to dry, but it is very foxy still.

Joey's mud brick road is nearly finished, it has been extended into a Badminton court, & when we get two poles & the net up we hope to be able to have some games, meanwhile we have been exercising ourselves

after lunch by playing ping-pong in the temple on two large drawing boards. it is great fun.
but rather a strange way of worshipping the gods. Abdullah rushes about picking up the balls for us.

Will you send me out my copy of "The Little White Bird" by Barrie it is a thin book in very faded limp blue leather covers, & is I think either on the shelf over my bed, or on the shelves near the fireplace in the dining room

The L.H.J came yesterday but I have not had time to look at it yet.

Lots of love to you both also to Pat & Mrs Childs.

Your affectionate daughter Myrtle.
